EAGLE, the Europeanana Network of Ancient Greek and Latin Epigraphy is a best practice network that brings together the most prominent European institutions and archives in the field of Classical Latin and Greek epigraphy. The project aims to provide Europeanana with a comprehensive collection of unique historical sources that constitute a veritable pillar of European culture. EAGLE will supply inscriptions from 25 European countries, providing more than 1.5 million images and related metadata, including translations of selected texts, for the benefit of the general public. This heritage represents approximately 80% of the total amount of inscriptions in the Mediterranean area. The EAGLE kickoff meeting will function as the formal launch of the project.

The event will take place in Rome, with the support of Accademia Nazionale dei Lincei and Sapienza, University of Rome.
