

Joint session of
Academia das Ciências de Lisboa and Accademia Nazionale dei Lincei

29 March 2022 – 3:00 pm, Roma time zone (2:00 pm, Lisboa time zone)

Webinar

The future of science in Europe and the role of learned societies

- The interaction between science and governance: the role of science advice for policy making
- The relevance of academic engagement and science-based decisions, in a context of increasing complexity and uncertainty
- The European "Recovery and Resilience Plan" and the new opportunities for science development

Programme

3:00 | Opening remarks and signature of a cooperation agreement between the two academies

Maria Cristina Marcuzzo, Foreign Secretary Accademia Nazionale dei Lincei (ANL)

José Luís Cardoso, President of the Academia das Ciências de Lisboa (ACL)

Roberto Antonelli, President of the Accademia Nazionale dei Lincei (ANL)

3:15 | Roundtable on “The future of science in Europe and the role of learned societies”

Moderator: Jean-Pierre Bourguignon, IHES France and foreign member of ACL

Keynote address: Giorgio Parisi, ANL and Nobel Prize in Physics 2021

Comments: Elvira Fortunato, ACL and Luís Oliveira e Silva, ACL

4:15 | Open debate

5:00 | Closing remarks